Grandparents Day

Grandparents Day takes place in many countries around the world every year. People celebrate this special day by spending time with their grandparents and giving them a Grandparents Day card with a message inside. They also buy their grandparents a gift like a box of chocolates or flowers. In the USA, people give their grandparents some forget-me-nots. They're beautiful blue and yellow flowers. Grandparents Day is a very special day to show our respect to our grandparents.

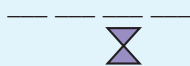

Did you know...?

The first country to celebrate Grandparents Day officially was the USA. They celebrated it in 1979.
